Summary of Information

1. The diagram on page (i) depicts a feature which is located within the vicinity of where the target personality has been. It is a recessed rectangular area with a stagnant lime green-colored oval shape in the bottom of it. The recessed area is surrounded by light colored squares with very heavy and dark lines. This, in turn, feels surrounded by overhangs or openings; not quite a patio or an atrium, but rather something very unique e.g. personal taste or vernacular style. Within the vicinity is a structure that has a tent-like appearance on top.

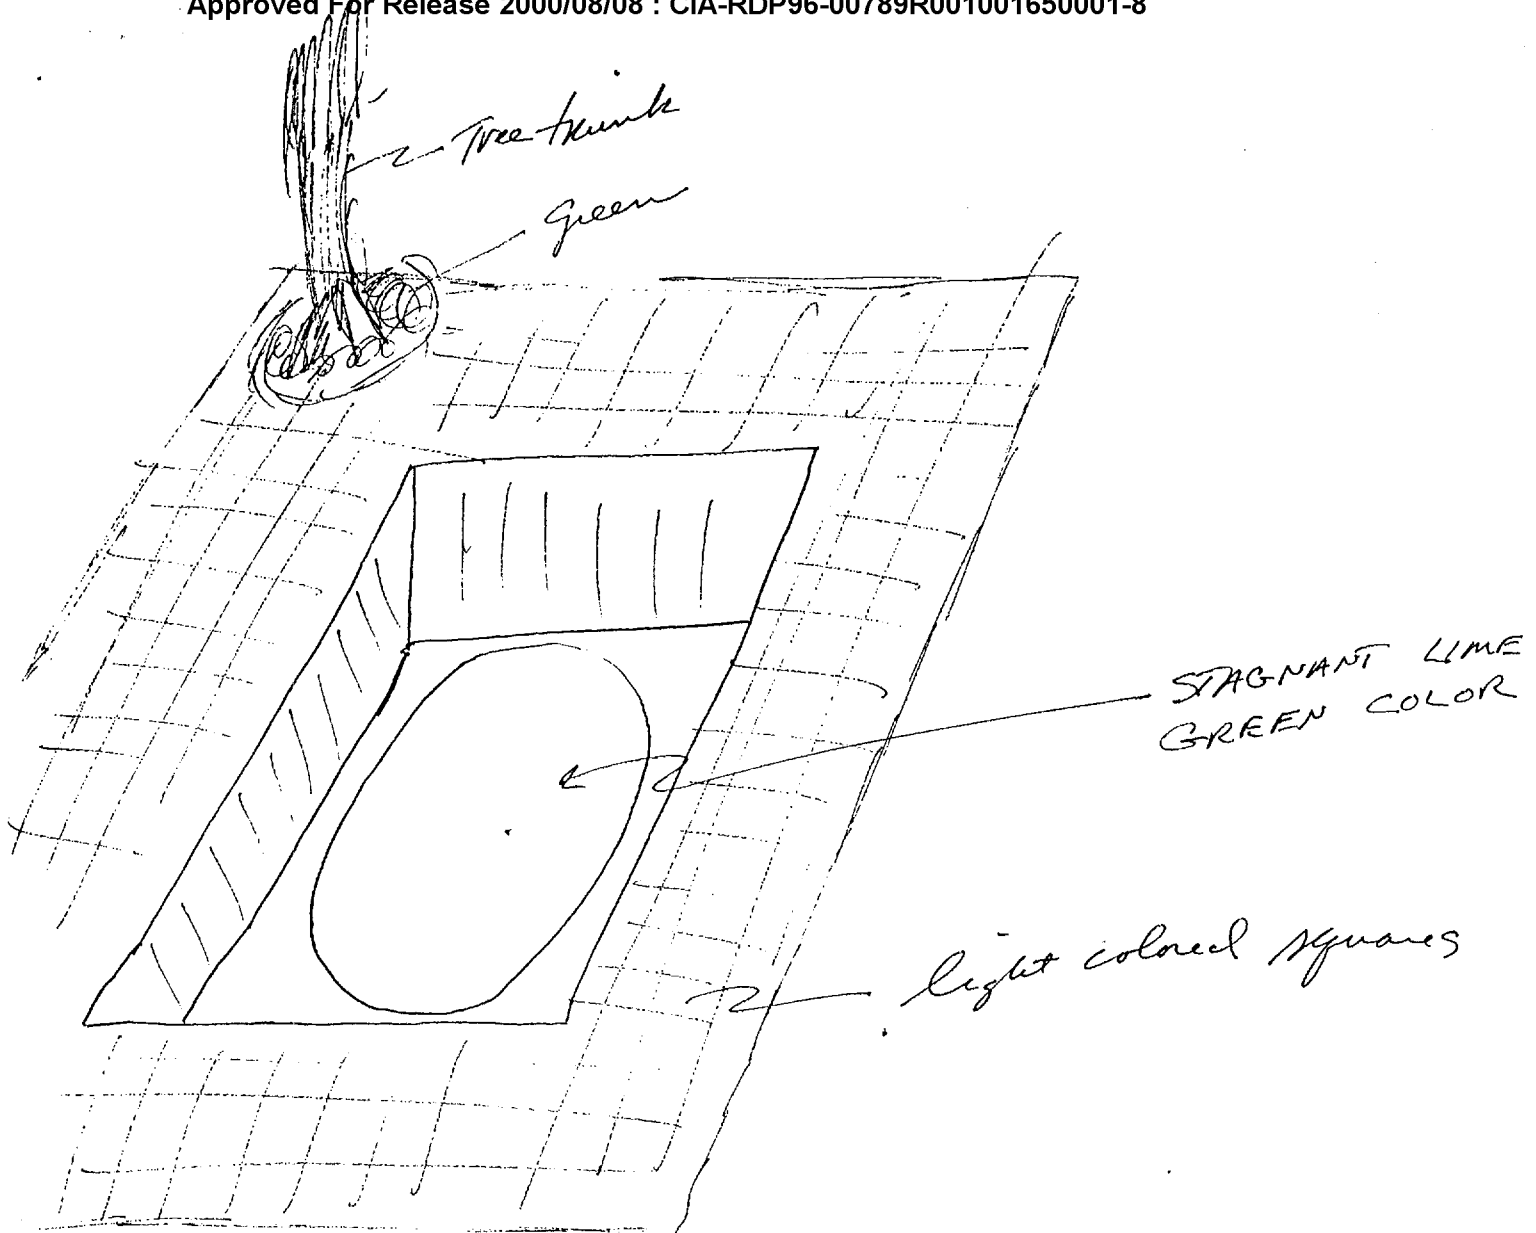

The target personality has a panoramic view of a valley from where he has been. The terrain is rugged with surprisingly a lot of green as well as lots of exposed, jagged rocks. From his viewpoint, there is an area containing ancient ruins reminiscent of Roman or Greek. These ruins are undeveloped; this vicinity is not particularly famous or well known to the average tourist or site-seer. It is known only to a few. It contains a double row of parallel poles or columns as well as a clutter of jumbled stone blocks, angles and rubble. There is a single object which stands isolated from the rest of the site.

Sitting on the opposite side of the valley from these ruins is an abandoned structure constructed of large, prominent blocks. It is reminiscent of a medieval or feudal fort. It appears to occur on relatively the same terrace or geologic stratum above the valley floor. This structure is only partially visible.

A mining or earth removal activity occurs between the "fort" and the target's point of view. It consists of a structure with two long objects projecting out at an angle. Each of these objects have a cable or line attached to the end it. The ground surface around this structure is really chewed up. This activity sits within a depression/sunken area below the level of the fort. This valley is associated with the phonetics: BAKKA, BASRA, BANDAR, BEIDA or BASRI.

2. The target personality is tired of the current situation. He wants to act now. There are others who are trying to talk him out of it, but it is only token resistance. The target is concerned about the loyalty of someone towards either him or the activity. The target is having his left examined by a doctor. It is something internal, not like a cut or scrape. The target is getting ready to move. The impression is from where he is now to GREECE. He is carrying or delivering something small. It is extremely valuable and central to the activity.

The target will enter a large building; maybe a house. He will walk down a long corridor with rooms coming off of both sides. There is a large room at the end of the corridor into which he will enter. A complex, multi-component object is sitting within the center of this large room (see diagram iii).
